

Sun-Maid raisins from California

SUN-MAID'S FAMOUS LITTLE RED BOXES containing California raisins have been enjoyed by children, and adults alike, for over 100 years. An ideal play-time snack or lunch-time treat and perfect for little hands to hold.

Sun-Maid California Raisins are naturally sun-dried, with no added oils or glazing agents.

Raisins contain only naturally occurring fructose sugar and have no added sugar.

Naturally sweet, portable and convenient, Sun-Maid California Raisins make a healthy alternative to confectionery and an excellent ingredient for many recipes, especially when baking with young children.

Sun-Maid California raisins are good sources of several essential nutrients, such as fibre and potassium. Because they do not easily spoil, are available year-round, easy to store and transport, they serve as a convenient way to increase fruit consumption and are as healthy as fresh fruit.

Sun-Maid Raisins – a convenient, fun way to get children to eat more fruit in their diets.

Save cash on tech!

BUYING NEW TECH CAN be expensive, but it pays to be prudent. CeX share five tips to help save next time you plan to spend on games and gadgets.

1. Buy it outright

When it comes to getting a phone, the most expensive way to buy one is on contract. Why not trade in your old handset and buy a second-hand one? A SIM-only plan can save hundreds. Shop around, compare, and look for a long warranty.

2. Treat it nicely and keep everything

If you're considering an upgrade, remember that your old tech and games can save you cash. You'll get more if they're in good condition. Having a screen protector and a case on your phone makes a difference when it comes to cashing it in. Keep the box and accessories - these can add value.

3. Buy last year's model

Save a stack of cash by not going for the latest model. Look at the price difference between an iPhone XS and the iPhone 8 - nearly half the price with almost the same capabilities. You could buy a PS4 copy of FIFA 19 for £28 or you could get FIFA 18 for £5 at CeX. (Prices correct on 20 March).

4. Beat the herd and trade in early

Don't wait until this year's model comes out to upgrade. Tech tends to depreciate in value when a new model's released. Sell your old one a month or two before to get the most money for it.

5. You could be sitting on a treasure trove

Got an old NES or an N64? Your old console and games might just earn you a pretty penny. With the rise in popularity of retro gaming, some consoles & games can fetch tens and even hundreds of pounds. That forgotten box of SNES games in the attic could turn out to be a small gold mine!

CeX has the widest choice of phones, tablets, electronics and games, all with a free 24-month warranty. With over 380 stores, they are the UK's leading second-hand tech and entertainment retailer. See how much you can save at your nearest CeX store, or online at webuy.com

Money matters for the next generation

WE'RE OFTEN TAUGHT from a young age that talking about money is ungracious, something to be shared on a need to know basis only.

However, as figures from the Trades Union Congress (TUC) reveal that average UK household debt levels have risen to a record £15,385 it has never been more important to throw out the rule book and be open with the young people in our lives about money matters.

According to the TUC each UK household owed £886 more than it did 12 months previously in the third quarter of 2018 and highlights that working families are on average worse off today than they were during the financial crisis of 2008.

Debt isn't complicated, and it doesn't discriminate. Falling into financial distress isn't just a headline for thousands across the country - it's becoming a way of life, and one that's more common as millions of families rely on credit just to make ends meet.

Living with debt can be an isolating experience and making a pay packet stretch from month to month can often be far easier said than done. Sound familiar?

How you manage money is the most important influence on how your child will deal with their finances in later life - meaning that it's imperative not to bury your head in the sand when it comes to your financial circumstances.

At National Debt Expert we understand that talking about debt isn't easy, which is why we work with some of the UK's leading debt partners and are proud to offer you a debt solution to help you regain control of your finances.
