New brides-to-be joining our network every day

We're really enjoying using UKbride so far and have found it's made our lives so much easier in terms of planning our wedding. We definitely recommend the platform for any couples planning their wedding!

Callie Sowerby

I never realised how stressful planning a wedding could be but using UKbride everything is so straightforward and simple it really helps you to take a breath and actually enjoy planning your special day!

Sophie Seeney

There are numerous suppliers, that fit with each couples wish lists, to make those little touches extra special. I've really enjoyed looking on the webpage, and I'm still getting inspiration every time I look.

Dawn Purchon

I've had a thoroughly enjoyable experience of using UKbride to help plan my wedding for September 2025. I've have been able to secure suppliers early which has taken such a weight off knowing things are in place.

Jodie Green

Finding UKbride has been a God send for us. They have great tips and tools to help guide us with what to do and when, having the checklist tool, ideas and supplier contacts couldn't ask for a better website.

Toni Swyer

When I tell you it's the ultimate guide believe me. You get guidance on venue, price range, inspiration. They also send you quotes suitable for your price range - honestly it's the best. I'm so glad I joined!

Zayna Abdalla

I can confirm that UKbride remains the number one platform — no other wedding website delivers more ticket sales for our shows!

ASHLEY MORTON PHOTOGRAPHY

Based in Milton Keynes but ready to roam across the UK, Ashley Morton brings a relaxed, documentary style to your Autumn/Winter 2025 wedding. Expert and joyful, joy-filled moments captured with warmth – from those cheeky speeches to belly laughs with friends and those secret glances during golden hour. His packages are a gift to every kind of bride: whether you opt for a full day package from prep-to-party at around £1,500, or something even like a micro wedding for £200, he has you covered. You'll also get a pre-wedding meet up, beautifully edited images, a private gallery, sneak peek images, possibly a second photographer, a drone – and even a bespoke album if you go for it. Clients rave about how laid back, professional and attentive he is, with gorgeous results that feel like reliving the day all over again.

AURUM DESIGNER JEWELLERS

If you're hunting for something truly personal this Autumn/Winter 2025, Aurum Designer Jewellers in Woking, West Sussex, are your go-to artisans for wedding and engagement rings. Since 1980, founder Andrew Leggett and his skilled goldsmiths have created hand-crafted, bespoke pieces – everything from platinum bands to gold eternity rings – with your vision at the heart of the process. You won't deal with sales assistants here; your first (and only) design consultation is with the maker themselves, who'll gladly guide you from sketch to sketch, defining a ring that's as unique as you are. Whether you're after something to complement your engagement ring or ring designs that truly reflect your love story, Aurum will come to you – literally. And if your heart holds a sentimental gem or heirloom, they'll happily work your old pieces into a fresh, modern design. Consider Aurum your most creative partner – whether your budget is modest or indulgent, their bespoke touch gives your love story extra sparkle.

GETT, TRANSPORT SERVICE

You want your guests – and perhaps yourselves – to glide through your wedding day journey in style, without the chaos of your own parking. Enter Gett, London's go-to/black cab app that combines classic, creamy motorised taxis at the top of a button. Expect fun-free rides from your front door to airports, venues, or wherever your celebration takes – usually in under five minutes across central London. You can pre-book your cab or hail one on-demand, all driven by seasoned, fully licensed black cab professionals who could quite literally tell you the city's secrets thanks to their famed knowledge of its streets. You can't beat the planet? No does Gett. Every ride in the UK is carbon-neutral, with an electric cab option and even a small contribution to tree-planting initiatives with each journey. Whether your planner includes late-night runs for happy guests, or thoughtful airport transfers at the end of the day, Gett brings dependable, sustainable ease to your wedding logistics – so you can keep both the cocktail and flow on going.
